

Making Food & Drink Premises Safe

Helping Food & Drink businesses to develop and implement the right Building Works to adapt, improve and make their facilities safe to reopen in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Helping you develop and implement the right building works for a safe return to business operations

The COVID-19 pandemic has significantly disrupted Food & Drink Sector normal business, the ways we operate and how we will use Hotel & Accommodation facilities in the future.

Food & Drink business owners must prepare and adapt for a changing hospitality world. It is now the right time to assess, develop and implement building works for your business full reopening after COVID-19 for when the UK Government and Health & Safety Authorities finally give the go-ahead to get back to business.

The two key areas of change that need to be implemented for the safe reopening of your business are both Behavioural and Environmental.

Behavioural change requires your business operational practices to adapt to stricter H&S and Social Distancing policies. The Environmental change – the physical space of your premises – requires the assessment, identification and implementation of adjustments to key space facilities and services such as circulation flows and safe routes, designation of safe zones and secured areas, general security,, adjustments and improvements to ventilation systems, and the implementation of new IT systems to offer the much needed safe environment.

At Alrimo Construction Ltd, we are here to support your business for a strong and better controlled head start.

A Safe Return to Business is a Matter of Trust

Both your customers and staff will be nervous about coming back into your Food & Drink premises and being in close contact with others. How you assess, identified and implement adaptations to open your business safely is vital to build the trust of your customers and get their support in making the return to your business' operations a success.

From the moment your customer steps over the threshold, circulating through your premises, circulating through your premises and making use of your retail space; it is essential to provide them with the confidence that you have made the necessary adaptations to your premises to offer them the safest possible environment.
